PRESENTATION SUMMARIES / SCHEDULE

Presentation # 1

“How to Support People with Depression”

Mayu Nakanishi

Momiji Yamada

MORNING - 9:35 - 9:50

People who suffer from depression have difficulty in asking help from others if they need it. Going to counseling or a mental clinic is also not easy. Our idea is to make an app that would have useful functions. For example, a user could check on their mental health state. For those suffering from their working environment, we want to have a service in which a third-party could help them quit their job without them needing to confront their boss.

Presentation # 2

“Why is politics important?
Love It or Hate It, We Need It”

Hindupur Srinivas Gautam

Fikri Hikmatul Fallah

MORNING - 9:50 - 10:05

Despite Japan being a democracy with elections in regular intervals, it is observed that the youth express a lackluster response and overall apathy to the political climate in Japan. Politics being extremely important due to its effects encompassing several avenues, we wish to push forth the idea that politics deserves necessary attention and awareness from youth as they are the future of the nation.

Presentation #3

“Degree of Recognition of Helpmark”

Riho Yoshioka

MORNING - 10:05 - 10:20

In my presentation, I will introduce the Helpmark. Second, I will share the results of data from Nara City. Third, I will show and explain the degree of recognition of the Helpmark and compare the data I found in my surroundings with that of general Japanese society. Fourth, I will show and summarize the results of my survey. Finally, I will suggest a new idea and offer my opinions about this issue.

Presentation #4

“The Plastic Surgery Trend:
How It Affects Today's Youth”

Divia Gymnastiar Irawan

MORNING - 10:45 - 11:00

In recent years, the growing trend of plastic surgery among young people has raised concerns about its impact on mental and physical health. My presentation explores the pressures that drive youth to seek cosmetic procedures, such as social media and unrealistic beauty standards. My stance is against this trend, as I believe it leads to harmful consequences, including body image issues and an unhealthy focus on appearance. I will argue for the importance of self-acceptance and promoting diverse standards of beauty.

Presentation #5
"Modern Problems:
Homeless People in Japan"

Aye Zaw Latt

MORNING - 11:15 - 11:30

There are numerous job openings in Japan, leading to the misconception that homeless individuals are lazy or unwilling to work. In truth, many of them want to work, but specific circumstances prevent them from doing so. Changing the current situation may not be feasible considering Japan's culture and traditions. However, we can work towards preventing this issue for future generations.

Presentation #6
"Let's Think about Refugees"

Riko Kyoda

Funa Morisaki

AFTERNOON - 13:05 - 13:20

Did you know many refugees are suffering from serious issues like mental problems and culture differences? Moreover, there are many people who can't get a refugee visa. We want to help them to live in Japan. We will suggest ONE PROGRAM which helps them reduce the difficulties of living in Japan and makes them to live more comfortably. In addition, throughout this program we can know what the serious problems refugees have in order to better help them.

Presentation #7
"Reducing Greenhouse Gas
Emissions: Climate Change
in Northern Europe"

Arthur Kazuki Lewington

AFTERNOON - 13:20 - 13:35

In this presentation, I will present about climate change and global warming. In particular, I want everyone to know about the problem of methane. To prevent this problem, I think everyone must use renewable energy. We must stop the emission of CO2 and methane to save our planet.

Presentation #8
"What We Can Do for Our Children"

Honoka Karube

AFTERNOON - 13:35 - 13:50

The issue I would like to discuss is the lack of interest and confidence among Japanese children about their future. There is a survey of the attitudes of 18-year-olds around the world. I was surprised and shocked to see how low the percentage was in Japan. One possible reason for this is the difference in the way adults think about and treat children. What we can do is to provide a place for children ourselves. I hope that each of us will think about what we can do to keep our children happy.

Presentation #9

“Toys for All: Celebrating Diversity in Play”

Genesis Gancino

I Komang Ryan Arjuna
Widiarta

AFTERNOON - 14:00 - 14:15

In our presentation, we will address the critical issue of the lack of diversity in toy manufacturing. This issue not only limits children's imagination, but also reinforces stereotypes. When children don't see themselves in the toys they play with, it can affect how they see themselves and their place in the world. We believe the toy industry should embrace a more inclusive approach by offering a wider variety of toys that represent different cultures, identities, and abilities.

Presentation #10

“English Education in Japan”

Haruka Nagai

Chihiro Sugisaki

AFTERNOON - 14:15 - 14:30

Why do Japanese people say they cannot speak English when they can? Differences in personality between foreigners and Japanese people result in a dislike of foreign languages. Our presentation suggests ways of improving English education in Japan with reference to other countries, textbooks, and reforms.
